

C+ MODEL (AIR PURIFIER + HUMIDIFIER)

Why do we need a humidifier?

Combat Dry Air

Combating the effects of dry air such as dry skin, irritated throat

Improved Respiratory Health

Humidified air can soothe irritated airways and promote easier breathing

Enhanced Comfort

It helps prevent dry, cracked skin, static electricity, and discomfort.

Preservation of Wooden Furniture

Dry air can cause wooden furniture and flooring to crack and warp over time

Who needs it?

Office Worker

Plants enthusiast

Respiratory illness

Eczema

Office Worker

- Combat Dry Air: Indoor air tends to be drier, especially in air-conditioned environments.
- Low humidity levels: Leads to
  - dry skin,
  - irritated nasal passages
  - throat discomfort

Respiratory Illness

An air purifier with a humidifying effect can provide relief by removing allergens and maintaining optimal humidity levels.

- 1. Moisture for Irritated Airways: Dry air can further irritate already inflamed airways.*
- 2. Thinning Mucus: Dry air can cause mucus in the respiratory tract to become thick and sticky, making it difficult to expel.*
- 3. Promoting Healing: Maintaining adequate humidity levels supports the body's natural healing processes, reducing the duration and severity of respiratory symptoms.*

Plant Enthusiast

1. Optimal Growing Conditions: Many indoor plants thrive in environments with higher humidity levels, mimicking their natural habitats in tropical or humid regions
2. Preventing Dryness: Dry indoor air, especially during the winter months or in air-conditioned environments, can lead to dehydration and stress for indoor plants.
3. Improving Overall Plant Health: Adequate humidity levels contribute to overall plant health by reducing stress & increase vitality.

Eczema

An air purifier with a humidifying effect offers relief by removing allergens and keeping humidity levels optimal.

1. Moisturized Skin: Using a humidifier helps maintain optimal moisture levels in the air, which can prevent skin dehydration and soothe irritated skin.
2. Reduced Itching and Irritation: By adding moisture to the air, a humidifier helps alleviate these symptoms, providing relief and comfort to individuals with eczema.
